Fire Prevention and Response Plan for Jails Online Training Program

Our E-Learning Programs are FREE to all CIRMA members.

Course Description

An emergency situation exists wherever and whenever a fire breaks out. When a fire breaks out in a jail, however, the stakes become even higher. Not only does jail management have to be concerned with the damage to the facility and the possibility of injury to the inmates and staff; they also have to be concerned with the possibility of inmates using fire as a diversion to cover up events such as an escape attempt or the taking of a hostage. As with any emergency, the way to minimize injury, death and/or property damage, as well as prevent inmates from using fire as a diversionary tactic, is to have a plan in place.

In this course the learner will gain understanding regarding inmates' motivations for lighting fires, as well as what some of the other causes for jail fires can be, and finally, the components of a well thought out fire prevention and response plan.
