

Drug Withdrawal in Jail Online Training Program

Our E-Learning Programs are FREE to all CIRMA members.

Course Description:

According to statistics from the Bureau of Justice, in 2002 more than two-thirds of jail inmates were found to be dependent on or abusive of alcohol or drugs. Inmates who are intoxicated or dependent on substances pose an increased risk of harm to themselves and others. This means that corrections officers must be able to identify such inmates and know how to manage them.

In this course, corrections officers will learn to identify symptoms of substance abuse and dependence in inmates, recognize methods for managing inmates experiencing withdrawal symptoms and finally, understand general safety precautions to take when managing inmates with substance use problems.
